

Casement Window

Casement Window

For that touch of class many homeowners opt for the casement window, as it combines good looks with functionality.

Hinged on the side the casement window offers the flexibility to capture as much, or as little, of any cross breezes and really opens your home to the outdoors when opened fully. Stainless steel stays enable the window to be kept open at any position.

As with all our windows the casement is also available with a locking option.

Casement windows feature stainless steel stays that enable you to regulate ventilation to ensure comfort.

Awning windows shown

